Follow The Step

Stand Up To Cancer celebrated its 9th FDA approval and instituted the SU2C Health Equity Breakthrough Team to advance equity in cancer research.

Our philanthropic partners have addressed issues ranging from social justice to mental wellness, diversity, and inclusion. Many of these issues have long been in our consciousness, but the pandemic introduced heightened urgency to address inequity at the root. We are inspired by each of our partners and are deeply grateful to be in service to their efforts, both here and worldwide.

While facing new realities in our world, we have worked together to strengthen the safety and security of those in need. Thank you for your continued support.

As we navigated a changing world amidst the Covid-19 pandemic, our industry lent support to people and communities who were deeply affected in myriad expected and unprecedented ways. In 2020 and 2021, EIF granted more than $81 million to more than 330 nonprofit organizations.

GRADUATE TOGETHER, our one-hour roadblock special hosted by LeBron James that honored the nation’s three million high school seniors who had to forego a traditional graduation ceremony in 2020, garnered an audience of more than 20 million and received a Peabody Award nomination.

Our efforts for inclusion challenged the world to rethink hiring practices during the pandemic. Delivering Jobs, with a goal of creating employment and leadership opportunities for the 81% of people with autism, intellectual and/or developmental differences who do not have a paying job; launched a powerful PSA campaign in collaboration with the Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) that reached an audience over 1.5 billion.
Industry Collaboration

In 2020 and 2021—unprecedented years of natural disasters, a global health crisis, massive unemployment, and critical social justice activism—EIF leveraged relationships to provide global solutions and help some of the industry’s most influential voices support the causes they care about.

About EIF

Mission

Founded in 1942 by Hollywood icons Samuel Goldwyn, Humphrey Bogart, Joan Crawford, James Cagney, and the Warner brothers, the Entertainment Industry Foundation (EIF) is a multifaceted organization that occupies a unique place in the world of philanthropy. By mobilizing and leveraging the powerful voices and creative talents of the entertainment industry and cultivating the support of organizations and philanthropists committed to social responsibility, EIF builds awareness and raises funds, developing and enhancing programs on the local, national, and global levels to facilitate positive social change.

History

Throughout its history, EIF has focused on some of the most pressing needs of our time: from wartime aid for agencies like the United States Organizations and American Red Cross, to eradicating child polio, and other critical health, disaster relief, and social issues. We have raised over $1 billion to date, supporting hundreds of charities each year.

EIF is the entertainment community’s trusted partner in philanthropy.

Participant Media
As high school graduation ceremonies across the country were canceled due to the pandemic, the Entertainment Industry Foundation, XQ Institute, and the LeBron James Family Foundation hosted a joyful, one-hour primetime special paying tribute to the Class of 2020. The nation’s biggest media companies joined forces to celebrate their achievement. Broadcast outlets ABC, CBS, FOX, and NBC, with social media and streaming platforms Facebook, Instagram, PEOPLE, and YouTube, simulcast the show on Saturday, May 16, 2020 to honor more than 3 million high school seniors across the country, with an audience of 20 million. Graduate Together: America Honors the High School Class of 2020 was nominated for a prestigious Peabody Award, recognizing it as some of the most compelling and empowering content released in broadcasting and streaming media during 2020.

Curated by high school students and educators nationwide, with the support of the American Federation of Teachers, the commercial-free broadcast included a collection of powerful commencement addresses, celebrity performances, and inspirational vignettes. With a breakaway at the end of the show, hundreds of local affiliates were offered the opportunity to celebrate the achievements and resilience of high school students in their local communities.
With unparalleled access to roadblock television, donated media, and industry-wide collaborators, we build and support groundbreaking programs and campaigns that raise awareness and funds for issues affecting millions of people around the world. Since 1942, our programs have harnessed the strength of the entertainment industry.

In 2020-21, our programs responded to the immediate needs of our communities—in our industry and around the globe—with a variety of services, funding, and medical and mental health support.

To reflect the entirety of our disaster relief efforts, Defy:Disaster was introduced as EIF’s industry-wide response program, keeping Music for Relief as a fund within this larger scope. Defy:Disaster met the challenges of 2020-21 with impactful outreach to communities hit hardest by COVID-19 and other natural disasters. Providing aid to first responders and communities, the program was able to support immediate and long-term relief for those directly affected by the Australia bushfires, hurricanes throughout the U.S. Gulf Coast, and record-breaking wildfires in California, in the midst of the global pandemic.

As the coronavirus rapidly spread, we launched Defy:COVID-19 in March 2020 to support public health efforts and provide living expenses to members of the entertainment community who lost income during the extended shutdown. In addition to funds for rent, groceries, and other bills for the unemployed, we aided community health clinics, assisted with increased testing in underserved communities, and provided mental health services and training for frontline health workers.

At the same time, we supported many of our partners with their own COVID-19 relief efforts (see pages 30-31) and provided the necessary administrative support and infrastructure to launch two new initiatives that focused on unique communities impacted by the coronavirus: Swans for Relief, which supported ballet dancers who lost income due to shutdowns, and #FirstRespondersFirst, which gave frontline healthcare workers the physical and psychological support and resources they needed as they served on the frontlines.
During the hottest months of the 2021 fire season, Red Light Management approached Defy:Disaster to partner on the launch of a new climate change-focused song. Three-time Grammy-award winning artist Fantastic Negrito was inspired to write “Rolling Through California” to tell the story of drought and fire dangers in his home state. Together we worked on a campaign that drove awareness and public donations to fund the Defy:Disaster Wildfire Relief.

For the 2021 Academy Awards, Defy:Disaster collateral was included in the Oscar gift bags. The t-shirts said: I DEFY: _______ and allowed recipients to write in the word(s) of their choice.

ALL IN Wellness First for Healthcare was started as a collaborative effort between #FirstRespondersFirst and the Dr. Lorna Breen Heroes’ Foundation. Its mission is to remove the stigma for medical professionals to receive mental healthcare. It is also involved in changing healthcare system policy to eliminate professional repercussions to those individuals who are working on the frontlines in healthcare.

FOR NOLA was started by Jameis Winston, the quarterback of the New Orleans Saints, and a few of his teammates to support the city after Hurricane Ida battered it leaving nearly a million people without power for weeks.

In response to the United Nation’s Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC), and the report published in August of 2021, Defy:Disaster prioritized preparedness strategies. One of the most innovative and organic tools used against wildfires is goat herding. The Defy team connected with goat herders around California to learn about their needs and understand the preparedness landscape as fire season elongates to nearly all twelve months.
Stand Up To Cancer® (SU2C), a division of EIF, raises funds to accelerate the pace of cancer research, providing new therapies to patients quickly and saving lives now. By leveraging the assets of the entertainment industry, SU2C generates awareness and educates the public about cancer prevention, early detection, and treatment options. SU2C’s collaborative, scientifically rigorous, treatment-focused research model, has revolutionized cancer research helping more people with cancer become long-term survivors.

As one of the leading funders of translational cancer research, SU2C is committed to ensuring that diverse patients are represented in cancer clinical trials and that all communities have equal access to potentially life-saving treatments. In 2021, SU2C has awarded almost $35 million in grants for cancer research. $17 million in grants was awarded specifically to research cancers affecting underrepresented populations.

Stand Up To Cancer successfully produced its seventh biennial roadblock telecast in August 2021, which aired simultaneously on more than 65 participating media platforms across the U.S. and Canada. The telecast also streamed on SU2C’s Facebook, YouTube, Twitch and TikTok channels. More than $143.18 million was pledged in connection with the special, which was co-executive produced by Academy Award®-winning actress Reese Witherspoon and Jim Toth, a media industry entrepreneur and investor. In the U.S., the valuation of donated airtime from the Nielsen tracked networks was approximately $7.4 million. The telecast generated 7.6 billion earned media impressions, with coverage including Today Show, Good Morning America, Associated Press, People, The Hollywood Reporter, Variety, and many more.

In 2021, Stand Up To Cancer produced seven PSAs to increase awareness about prevention and treatment options in the fight against cancer, and had a total of 15 PSAs in the marketplace throughout the year. These campaigns ran in the U.S. and Canada. More than $379 million of donated ad space was secured, garnering more than 9.6 billion media impressions. Over 180 celebrity ambassadors helped raise awareness for various SU2C initiatives including SU2C’s telecast, Cancer Screen Week, End of Year Giving, Colorectal, Lung and Pancreatic Cancer Awareness, Summer Sun Safety, Kiss Cancer Goodbye, and more. Earned media impressions exceeded 15 billion.

SU2C also collaborated with 7 shows and 1 film, including The Neighborhood, 911: Lonestar, Celebrity Family Feud, Let’s Make A Deal, The Big Leap, The Simpsons, and the film Our Friend.
Our key program accomplishments in 2021 included:

- Growing our database to several hundred eligible candidates through new pathway program engagement
- Expanded our job placement efforts beyond below-the-line production to include corporate and internal studio opportunities
- Cultivated relationships with additional employer and industry partners
- Secured job placements for candidates, ranging from Production Assistant roles to Agent Trainee positions
- Launched a national billboard campaign

After piloting the initiative in 2020, we partnered with Variety and Deadline Hollywood in May 2021 to formally announced the EIF Careers Program (EIFCP) in collaboration with Crewvie, a global hiring platform of entertainment professionals.

EIFCP aims to create a more diverse talent pipeline into film and television careers by presenting qualified talent for entry level production and corporate entertainment roles from esteemed career pathway programs like Hollywood CPR, ManifestWorks, Group Effort Initiative, Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences’ Academy Gold Rising, and the Television Academy Foundation.

As founding partners, NBCUniversal, Sony Pictures Entertainment, Disney General Entertainment, and Warner Bros. Discovery are looking to EIFCP to hire and advance communities who have historically been excluded from the entertainment industry.
In 2020-21 we introduced 13 new ambassadors including actor and advocate-entrepreneur Joey Travolta, actress and advocate Holly Robinson Peete, NBA athlete Ricky Rubio, and athlete and actress Caley Versfelt, pictured.

Delivering Jobs was created to forge one million employment and leadership opportunities for the 81% of people with autism, intellectual and/or developmental differences who do not have a paying job.

Our collaboration with Autism Speaks, Best Buddies International, and Special Olympics, challenges all businesses to identify ways they can incorporate this untapped workforce into their diversity and inclusion plans to build the workforce of the future.

Our aim is to ensure that this population has access to a minimum of one percent of all employment and leadership opportunities and to empower Human Resources professionals to invest in the long-term success of all employees.

In 2020, we launched a powerful PSA campaign in collaboration with the Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) that reached over 1.5 billion people through over 188,000 airings of donated media.

Focusing on businesses working to increase inclusivity in their hiring practices, we established a partnership with the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM)—which represents 14,000 companies across the US, in every industrial sector.
