

From Our Leadership

Eight decades after its inception, the Entertainment Industry Foundation continues to fulfill the vision of its founders. Legendary Hollywood icons Samuel Goldwyn, Humphrey Bogart, Joan Crawford, James Cagney, and the Warner brothers recognized the influence and reach of the entertainment industry in raising funds and awareness for those in need. The collective impact of the entertainment community has driven worldwide attention and extensive funding to causes including disaster relief, inclusion, social justice, health, mental wellness, education, and youth services.

The Hollywood Reporter celebrated the accomplishments of EIF and its philanthropic partners in its annual Philanthropy issue in June. On the occasion of EIF's 80th anniversary, the publication honored EIF with its inaugural Philanthropic Organization of the Year Award.

As the work of EIF continues to strengthen and expand with each passing year, so does its reach. The campaigns launched by EIF, including those of Stand Up To Cancer, reached an audience of more than 10 billion people, with an advertising value of nearly $480 billion. One of those PSAs, #HireInclusively, created by Delivering Jobs and SHRM and starring Holly Robinson Peete, garnered two Anthem Awards and a Telly Award and reached an audience of more than 950 million to share its message of inclusion.

Through its programs such as Stand Up to Cancer, Defy:Disaster, Delivering Jobs, and the EIF Careers Program—or with its guidance and support of artists and athletes committing to causes across the world—EIF continues to serve as the entertainment community's trusted partner in philanthropy.

About EIF

Mission

Founded in 1942 by Hollywood icons Samuel Goldwyn, Humphrey Bogart, Joan Crawford, James Cagney, and the Warner brothers, the Entertainment Industry Foundation (EIF) is a multifaceted organization that occupies a unique place in the world of philanthropy. By mobilizing and leveraging the powerful voices and creative talents of the entertainment industry and cultivating the support of organizations and philanthropists committed to social responsibility, EIF builds awareness and raises funds, developing and enhancing programs on the local, national, and global levels to facilitate positive social change.

History

Throughout its history, EIF has focused on some of the most pressing needs of our time: from wartime aid for agencies like the United States Organizations and American Red Cross, to eradicating child polio, and other critical health, disaster relief, and social issues.

We have raised over $1 billion to date, supporting hundreds of charities each year.

Our Approach

For 80 years, EIF has created groundbreaking programs and campaigns that raise awareness and funds for vital issues affecting millions of people around the world.

Our unique access to talent, media, and other entertainment industry assets allows us to focus impact and bring attention to urgent causes.

Through our reputation as a Charity Navigator Four Star organization that meets all 20 Better Business Bureau charity standards and carries the Candid Platinum Seal of Transparency, we have become the trusted resource for artists, athletes, and influencers seeking to leverage their platforms for social good. By providing strategic advice, with crucial administrative and accounting services for celebrity nonprofits and philanthropic efforts, we are able to combine the influence of some of entertainment's most powerful leaders with the momentum of social impact to create real change.

Programs & Campaigns

With unparalleled access to roadblock television, donated media, and industry-wide collaborators, we build and support groundbreaking programs and campaigns that raise awareness and funds for issues affecting millions of people around the world. Since 1942, our programs have harnessed the strength of the entertainment industry.

In 2022, our programs responded to the immediate needs of our communities—in our industry and around the globe—with a variety of services, funding, and medical and mental health support.

Launched in 2021, the EIF Careers Program serves as a bridge between entertainment industry career pathway training and pipeline programs, program alumni, and industry employers looking for talent from low-income and historically excluded communities.

We believe that a collaborative approach connecting young talent interested in creative careers, pathway programs that aim to advance the education and skill building of talent, and industry employers seeking qualified talent is critical to building a diverse talent pool for the industry. Our commitment to inclusion also amplifies the voices and talents of the neurodiverse community through our Delivering Jobs campaign.

In 2022, we expanded upon our job placement efforts to continue exploring ways we can collectively realize real, sustained change for underrepresented candidates. We harnessed the power of numbers to cofound the Entertainment Equity Alliance, a coalition of industry-connected workforce, advocacy, government, and labor partners committed to ensuring equity and access to careers in the arts and entertainment industry for historically excluded and underrepresented groups. To support the career education and exploration of young people and their support systems, we kicked off programming in partnership with Best Buy Foundation, their Teen Tech Center (TTC) program, and the Handy Foundation, with a "Hollywood 101" event to introduce the range of available careers in film and television to Los Angeles youth, their families, and the TTC staff.

2022 Job Placement Success Story

Matthew Chan is an Asian American, San Francisco-born filmmaker who graduated from California State University of Northridge with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Cinema Television of Arts with an emphasis on Television Documentary. Growing up, Matthew did not see a lot of portrayals of different ethnicities in television or film. Because of this, Matthew wants to change that by not only telling the stories of more minorities, but also the cultures of individuals with multiple ethnicities.

After serving as a Production Assistant for the game show GUY'S GROCERY GAMES, Matthew enrolled in the EIF Careers Program in hopes to get more exposure on film and television series. Matthew was hired as a production assistant on the television series BAKING IT via NBCU LAUNCH's Production Assistant Initiative through the EIFCP network. This experience piqued his interest in working in the camera department where he hopes to Gain first-hand experience in capturing and delivering inspiring and entertaining stories, just as the previous generations of filmmakers did so for him.

2022 Job Placement Success Story

Tameara Lewis, was born and raised in Los Angeles, CA. She attended California State University, Northridge and graduated with a degree in Communication Studies. As a Group Effort Initiative (GEI) alumnus, she began her career in the entertainment industry in 2021 as a Cast Production Assistant for MasterChef, an Endemol Shine North America production and later went on to become a Production Assistant for a Netflix show. Through the EIF Careers Program (EIFCP), she secured a Contestant Production Assistant position on the show The Weakest Link via NBCU LAUNCH's Production Assistant Initiative. Tamera's ultimate goal is to become a Casting Producer and Showrunner and is thankful to GEI and EIFCP for helping kickstart her career.

As the imminent danger of the pandemic waned, climate disasters across the globe increased and intensified. Defy:Disaster produced a monthly newsletter to educate on preparedness, as well as immediate and long-term responses to crises. Though the scope of the program remained in the United States, our partners moved to respond to natural and man-made disasters around the world. From news on flooding in Kentucky and Texas to destruction from Hurricanes Fiona in Puerto Rico and Ian in Florida to the devastating impacts of a food shortage in the Horn of Africa and the war in Ukraine, Defy:Disaster served as a key resource to the entertainment community in providing relief to those affected by disasters.

Continuing a long collaboration with the Los Angeles Fire Department, Defy:Disaster, with the help of its partners, responded to one of the LAFD's most pressing needs by providing three Brush Patrol Skid Units to the department. Skid units are designed to be easily mounted to the bed of a pickup truck and can essentially convert a standard department pickup truck into a versatile firefighting resource and can be operated by a two-member crew. During brush fires, they are primarily deployed to extinguish hot spots or defend high-risk areas and residential communities from encroaching flames.

Across the globe, our philanthropic partner, Ukraine Children's Action Project (UCAP) provided the industry with dispatches from Ukraine as the organization worked to offer psychological support, health care and education to Ukrainian children displaced by the ongoing war. An unwavering look at the toll taken on the youth of Ukraine, the dispatches powerfully expressed the need for aid and collaboration to help the most vulnerable victims of war.

City National Bank continued to serve as a Title Sponsor of our Defy:Disaster program, allowing us to continue to provide the entertainment community with critical information from disaster relief experts within hours of a disaster, allowing for a quick and effective response.

Stand Up To Cancer® (SU2C), a division of EIF, raises funds to accelerate the pace of cancer research, providing new therapies to patients quickly and saving lives now. By leveraging the assets of the entertainment industry, SU2C generates awareness and educates the public about cancer prevention, early detection, and treatment options. As one of the leading funders of translational cancer research, SU2C's collaborative, scientifically rigorous, treatment-focused research model has led to tens of thousands of cancer patients living longer lives.

Significant SU2C-funded research published in 2022 includes results from two clinical trials, one for pancreatic cancer and the other for rectal cancer. The pancreatic cancer trial tested personalized Messenger RNA (mRNA) vaccines for post-surgery pancreatic cancer patients who were at a high risk for cancer recurrence; half of the participants experienced the desired immune response after receiving the vaccine, and those people's cancer did not return during the trial. In the rectal cancer clinical trial, a promising immunotherapy was given as a first-line treatment to patients with certain genetic mutations; 100% of patients in the trial had their cancer disappear, without the need for debilitating surgery, chemotherapy or radiation.

In 2022, Stand Up To Cancer produced eight PSAs to increase awareness about prevention and treatment options in the fight against cancer, and had a total of 16 PSAs in the marketplace throughout the year. These campaigns ran in the U.S. and Canada. More than $345 million of donated ad space was secured, garnering more than 7.5 billion media impressions.

Nearly 130 celebrity ambassadors helped raise awareness for various SU2C initiatives including Cancer Screen Week, Giving Tuesday/End of Year Giving, Summer Sun Safety, Kiss Cancer Goodbye, and more, reaching a potential audience of nearly 420 million. National and regional earned media coverage of SU2C campaigns, science breakthroughs and patient stories generated in excess of 8.6 billion media impressions. SU2C also collaborated with five television shows and one film, including Celebrity Game Face, Major League Baseball's Celebrity Slugger, Wheel of Fortune (two episodes), The Masked Singer, and Focus Features' film Spoiler Alert.

Further extending SU2C's reach, an audience of over 19 million watched SU2C's iconic placard moments during Major League Baseball's All-Star Game and game 4 of the World Series on FOX where tens of thousands stood in honor of a loved one touched by cancer. First Lady Dr. Jill Biden joined SU2C for the special moment at the World Series in Philadelphia.

Delivering Jobs was created to forge one million employment and leadership opportunities for the 81% of people with autism, intellectual and/or developmental differences who do not have a paying job.

Our collaboration with Autism Speaks, Best Buddies International, and Special Olympics, challenges all businesses to identify ways they can incorporate this untapped workforce into their diversity and inclusion plans to build the workforce of the future.

Our aim is to ensure that this population has access to a minimum of one percent of all employment and leadership opportunities and to empower Human Resources professionals to invest in the long-term success of all employees.

In 2020, we launched a powerful PSA campaign, starring Holly Robinson Peete, in collaboration with the Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) that reached over 1.5 billion people with more than 188,000 airings of donated media. The PSA won two Anthem Awards and a Telly Award.

Focusing on businesses working to increase inclusivity in their hiring practices, We established a partnership with the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM)—which represents 14,000 companies across the US, in every industrial sector.

In 2021-22 we introduced 13 new ambassadors including actor and advocate-entrepreneur Joey Travolta, actress and advocate Holly Robinson Peete, NBA athlete Ricky Rubio, and athlete and actress Caley Versfelt, pictured.
